The Bibliophile

A Challenge for Lovers of Books

“Books are a uniquely portable magic.”
Stephen King

We love books. You love books. Let's love books together, and add a challenge into the mix.

Read the longest book by the end of the month, and you will be declared the top bibliophile, AND we will give special credit to the longest book read of the year!

- You must start the book AFTER the start of the competition.
- No claiming credit for books read / completed before the competition start date.
- Audiobooks do not count for this competition.
- Books in a series can be aggregated, but only for the books you read after the competition start date.
