

Our experience is created entirely by volunteers, and it shows in the passion and dedication we bring to each and every launch (class). It also helps that our cadets (students) and families are so effusively appreciative! Here are some of our favorites:

Thanks for telling me about this. I really appreciate how you admire and inspire kids. Every Wednesday night I always find my son is really excited and joyful even though it's 11 PM after the class. Frankly speaking, I have never seen any of his class (typical asian education you know)that could make him so eager to join a class like Launchpad23. Thank you so much for all the wonderful classes you brought to kids.

Thank you so much! This means so much! [REDACTED] was very hesitant to join but has really developed a strong liking for it. I really appreciate all you do and how you encourage him. I try to stay out of it and kind of be hands off with this so he can feel comfortable without me watching over him. I think this has been a great addition to his wednesdays! Thank you again, and I so much appreciate the feedback.

recommendation 1.

Do L23 on more days.

I love launchpad!!! I really don't like waiting a whole other WEEK to do it again!!!

my brain be like: *explode*

The girls love the meetings! I have so much admiration and respect for what you guys put together. It is truly a much needed piece that is in sore shortage in the educational systems today. The kids have all praises. They love you and their peers. In fact, they have been nagging me to take them to visit you when we end up in DC later next month, haha. The culture of a group is one of the hardest pieces to nurture - but so contagious and guiding when it's well formed. I feel that Launchpad23 is forming its own positive culture to influence all the participating kids - hopefully, with more kids and more history, the culture will even become somewhat self-sustaining.

I really like how we can choose which topic to go to; with only one topic people may not be interested but since we can choose which topic to go to, it ensures that we all are interested in the topic we're discussing.

Also, thanks a ton for the presentation skills you have been teaching. The points you make are spot on and I really appreciate getting to hear them from someone else. I've been blow away by how many teachers lack basic presentation skills since I saw what was going on when COVID hit. What you are doing shows the kids that presentations aren't about reading slides and don't have to put your audience to sleep.

As always...thanks for all you do,

Loved Jo's session and loved the Math guild - doing puzzles!

Just saw: I got 8th place out of 10. Did I lose? No. Did I learn a really successful strategy to use next time? Yes. Did I have fun? YES!

the only reason I didn't vote the top one is that I feel like it would make my other hobbies seem nowhere as good and therefore useless lol 😂 stayed after to ask us to host two sessions a week. Evidently one isn't enough

Anything else you want us to know?

I love launchpad

I LOVE LAUNCHPAD

• Any suggestions for how we can improve?

This class was honestly really awesome; anything with logic like that is fun to debate

just visit

@Panda-Pop ... you should strive to get the Guinness world record for the youngest best selling author because if there was one person I knew who could do it it would be you!

by the way would you send me a link to some of your story I would like to read it and see how it's going?

I like the mission.

I had a lot of fun today!

I really like the games recently in the past lesson and this lesson.

Maybe you could make each session for 2 hrs

I really like Kristine.

i really like root rush

I now know how to speak in public and be more confident yaey!!! 😊
Also this class is awesome without it I wouldn't be able to make like 60-70% of my friends
Thank you!!! Happy Christmas and New Year!

I wanted to mention that the presentations last week were really well done! There was such a broad spectrum of projects presented and everyone did a great job. We are so happy we found Launchpad and are lucky that [Redacted] is part of such a wonderful group of kids.

Additional Feedback:

you need an option for I love it

Dentistry

- What is Launchpad23 doing well?

the topic making, letting cadets teach classes, supporting our (kinda crazy but fun) ideas, and a lot more that I can't think of (but I know that it's there)

Antmaster

- What is Launchpad23 doing well?

just about everything when it comes to being educational

- Where can Launchpad23 improve?

possibly some more teamwork projects?

A "I love it" option for the next page of this end of year test.
